

Isabella ☐

Hi,my name's Isabella,I'm 16, I live in italy and I'm half Croatian,I am vegan and a fierce defender of animal rights. Music is a huge part of my life and I enjoy learning and speaking languages. I like open-minded people.That's basically all you need to know about me.

Above,on the left side,there's a picture of me and on the right one there's a picture of a gentle and beautiful calf and I.

Italian friends and Croatian ones.

On the right side of the page I uploaded some pictures that show some people that mean a lot to me.

I don't have many friends because ever since i started going to school I haven't really gotten along with everyone I'm surrounded by and it has always been really hard for me to find someone interesting who I really like.

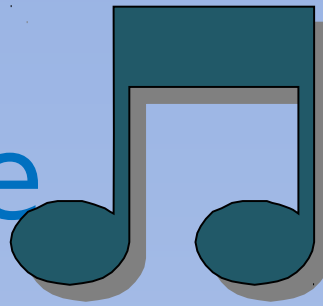

But throughout the last 3 years I've managed to find the right people. In Siena, the city I live in, I hang out with a group of people and I could say they're like my second family. Some of them are in the big picture on the left.

In Croatia, which is like my second home (and favorite one) I got to meet such amazing and open minded people and there I made the best memories of my entire life. The blond girl I'm hugging in the picture is my best friend Jessica, it was our first time hanging out and we have a really great bond now. She knows me and understands me like nobody else does. Next to this picture, I uploaded another one with some other Croatian friends and an amazing hippie van.

The last picture shows some of my greatest friends in Siena, I really enjoy spending my time with them.

Everyday life

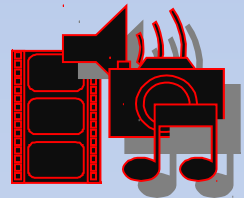

Family

- My family is composed of 4 members, my mum, my dad, my younger sister and I. I consider part of the family our two dogs and three cats.

Music

- I can't go a day without listening to music and I like rock, reggae, indie rock, indie pop and punk music. I cannot play any musical instrument but I'm planning on learning how to play the guitar and I hope on becoming good enough to buy an electric one. Currently, my favourite groups are the Sex Pistols, The White Stripes, the XX and I really like The Cure, the Smiths, Velvet Revolver, Black Sabbath, Bob Marley, The Doors, Pink Floyd, David Bowie, The Prodigy, Rage Against the Machine, Pixies, Nirvana, Manu Chao, The Police, Radiohead, Linkin Park and many many others.

TRAVELING.

- I'm not really sure about what I want to do in my life or who I wanna become but I'm pretty sure that traveling the world and getting to know as many people and cultures as possible and seeing as much as I can see is my main goal. I will never be satisfied enough if I keep living in the same city I currently live and I am convinced that I will always feel like I'm missing out on something if I don't get to travel as much as I'm planning to ☐
